The KSP Materials

July, 2020

Q: KSP,

I was wondering if you had any thoughts as to places in the world that may be easier to “ride” out the ‘storm’ that is upon us. I have a number of children, and I would be very interested in your reflections, as I long to see them grow without the visual trauma of people in masks all the time. We currently live in the countryside and so are well buffered, but I am sensing it may be time for movement in a new direction.

A: Dear Friend,

There is no answer to this question that is not within you. We can say that there is no specific geographical areas to ‘ride out the storm.’ Your protection comes from what you have within you, and that which emanates from you. To be clearer - your point of vibrational frequency will indicate how available you are to receiving external impacts. If you are of the higher resonant frequency you could walk through the core of the storm and not be affected. If you remain attached to lower frequencies, you could be in a cave in the hills and still be impacted. Do you see our point here? If you are attentive to your inner voice, then you shall make those decisions that will place you right where you need to be. It is not a question of where you are geographically that will determine the answer to your question - rather, it is where you are vibrationally. Saying this, we do not consider large cities or dense urban environments to be conducive at this time. Rural areas, places of local community, and closer to Nature and supportive networks are more suitable. Important is to be close to family and others of like-resonance. There shall be much migration in these times as people return to the resonance of family and close friends. We suggest you follow your instinct and choose like-resonance over external conditions. Be close to natural cycles, natural foods, and natural energies. All impacts of an artificial and/or chemical nature will not be supportive at this time.

We may add one more thing - do not choose out of fear. Choose from a place of wanting to positively create and construct the future you wish for you and your family, considering longer term needs. Choose from a place of wishing to creatively construct and support others. Do not run in fear of hiding yourselves. You shall be known by your frequency.

We thank you & we appreciate you.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Do you have other books to recommend, particularly regarding history/origins?

A: Dear Friend,

You ask on other recommended books. At this stage we refrain from pointing to specific books. We understand that each person requires their own triggers, and a book/resource which was useful for one person may not function for another. Each person attracts such information to their attention due to resonance. You shall find your own triggering information according to where you are in the process. We shall not interfere in your own free will and free choice. We know you will understand this. Trust in yourself. Appreciate yourself. Trust in the process.

Q: Dear KSP,

You mention towards the end of your third book that “within the chaos shall be the optimum time for communication of this information. Your communication channels allow you to also share this information anonymously...” I have struggled to get clarity on this, precisely because there seems to be so much noise... is my silence better? I do much writing online and have struggled to discern if I should move to do it anonymously. Would you advise this?

A: Dear Friend,

These are challenging times, and more than ever we are required to listen to our instinct and inner guide. We are glad that you have received resources to aid your understanding. These are accumulative - allow them to build up one upon the other.

You are right - there is much noise at current moment. There is no point in shouting into a blowing storm. Silence is also an energy - an energy of quiet, yet aware, observation. Silence can be waiting for the storm to abate.

When you feel ready to speak - communicate - then again we say, listen to your instinct. Do you feel ready to put forth under your own recognized name/identity? Would you feel more protected and productive if you were anonymous or used a different identity? Feel free in this - it is the content rather than the container that is at work here. You may wish to do both? Two streams - two forms of communication. Some material may be suited to the energetics of your identity; other streams of information may be better suited to the energetics of an alternative identity. There is no 'one form.' Most of all - whatever you do, do not feel constrained by your chosen actions. If there is freedom within you, there will be freedom within your communications. The energy you bring will manifest in the message. Allow them both to be in harmony. Balance is key.

We thank you for your ongoing commitment. You are not alone.

Q: KSP,

Time to get to work, it's getting late. What's the old saying about the first letter of the first word being enough for some; while a million words in a hundred volumes will be insufficient for the heedless?

A: Dear Friend,

Indeed, it has always been time to get to Work - there never was a time absent from the necessity. As you refer to: 'A thousand signs are not enough for the negligent'....And yet, we may be compelled to keep trying. Persistence and repetition also have their function, if directed accordingly. Sometimes it takes several knocks to find the Way...

Q: Kaleb,

The slavery of the human being is undeniable and in a first reading, it is easy to understand that the oppressors obtain an evident material and economic benefit that drives them to continue caging humanity in that machine that is that millennial plan of which the human being has not yet has managed to escape. However, if these elites feed on non-human energies, both from inside and outside the aquarium, that pursue these aims of castrating the infinite capacities of men and women, what is the benefit they get from this whole plan?

From a transpersonal and spiritual point of view, what is the benefit of having us enslaved and producing a state of continuous suffering and negativity? Do they feed off those emotions, can they get something from the elites that have us enslaved, or are their dividends incomprehensible to us humans?

It is not conceivable from the understanding of this plane of consciousness that everything that involves keeping the machine running does not imply that everyone who controls the game, human and non-human, gets their share of the loot. This would be very valuable information for those who have been lucky enough to break free from the chains in the material aspect and who want to work for a planetary energy shift.

I hope you can clarify these doubts as I think it can help to a deeper understanding of the zombie state in which some live these days.

A: Dear Friend,

First, it has been necessary to 'set the scene' by outlining the situation. It has been necessary to provide specific 'triggers' to achieve this recognition of the human situation. The energetic tone of book 3 - 'Operation' - as well as 'Own Your Sovereignty' are different. In these, the resonance has been aligned more with the vibration of empowerment. These book materials function together, in a sequence, and can deliver more if received in this way. You phrase your communication as 'some doubts on the path.' Yet we do not recognize the energy of your inquiry as having 'doubts'. We suggest you do not confuse 'constructive questioning' with 'doubts.' Once your body-mind utilizes the language of 'doubts' then this can affect your energetics, often unconsciously. We note from the structure of your questioning that your consciousness is already very well aligned with this Path.

The Greater Picture is not such that can be given in a straightforward manner. It is so far beyond most mental conceptions that it would disturb the overall balance and functioning of the body-mind. For this reason, we do not consider it conducive to say 'This is exactly how it is' in a linear fashion. The construction of awareness must be developed in specific ways that maintain balance as well as rising degrees of awareness. That there are 'forces' that gain from humanity's unawareness is clear. Such forces do not all receive their 'gain' in a similar manner - not all 'get their share of the loot', to use your terminology. When there are games within Games, there are multiple receivings. Overall, we can say that 'control' is an overriding factor in this.

As vibratory resonances shift, the Game within this current reality ceases to have the same influence. This is the central concept we put forth. The Path is not necessarily to 'see' more of the enslavement but to 'perceive' more of the higher consciousness reality. If we provide too much attention upon the negative situation, the resonance of the body-mind can be affected. The KSP books have been calibrated to offer that which is enough without digging the well too deep - humanity would likely prefer the well hole to the nectar!

There is much 'dividends' awaiting humanity. When the struggle is released from, the energy is of greater capacity - as when an elastic band is pulled. Humanity is being pulled now, and this is uncomfortable for you. Yet the ‘swing’ will come to provide greater force for moving forward.

We have appreciated your awareness in this.

Q: Dear KSP,

Thank you for your latest book “Own Your Sovereignty”. It is SO timely and I was so happy to discover you’d written another book! I am wondering about the timeline of this difficult time... do you sense we are just at the beginning of the struggle, or are we moving into the middle? It is certainly a mental challenge, and I am working to keep joy and hope high for my children in a Province that is completely locked down. We are considering moving (at least away from our province, but possible our country) and I wondering if this is wise at this juncture. I would be interested in your thoughts.

A: Dear Friend,

You ask about the timing of events. We note that your last communication was 6 months ago in August 2020. Does it feel like 6 months has passed between our communications? We would say that - no, it does not. You see here how time has become less linear and less defined? Can you remember clearly back to before the 2020 ‘Event’? Has it only been a year? You note here how things have changed in the world that do not correspond with linear time? This is what we say: it is not possible now to think in the old ways of time, with a beginning, middle, and end. This way of thinking will bring more frustration as it will not correspond with your expectations or measurements.

You asked: are we in the beginning or the middle of this struggle? You see the inaccuracy of using this system of measurements? Whether we are in the beginning or middle will depend on how long this process will be going on for. And the process will depend on many varying and fluctuating elements currently in play within both visible and non-visible realms. For this, we say that there is not yet enough clarity to make any ‘time-related predictions.’ We can only say, in this respect, that the overall plan by the controllers has a long-term span to it. The point here is one of perception. It is important now not to become entangled in ‘their’ reality, for it will drag you along and create distress.

We note too that there has been increased anxiety and stress across the populations. This was expected, and it plays into 'their' reality. We suggest you take a step back - mentally, emotionally, and psychologically from this game. Cultivate your own foundations.

The question of location is one that arises frequently. Is it wise? We ask: does it 'feel' wise to you? For the answer to this question must come from within you. We say that there is no ONE safe location or refuge. You will always be with yourself, wherever you are. This question should be directed at self. Do 'you' feel resonance with your current location? Do you feel intuitively that this place can be a future space for you? If not, then you should consider where you would wish to place yourself. We suggest you consider this question not as running away from somewhere, but running closer toward yourself. Which is best for the energy of your Self? Trust in your own inner voice to guide you. Consider this: you can connect also with the guiding energy that connects us also. There is no magic. As we have related in our messages - you only need to make the call - the intention - for connection. Then allow the signs to come. Not as you may expect - be alert. Trust in your own inner connection. Do not have fear in moving forward. Wherever you choose to be, you shall be there with Your Self.

Q: Kaleb,

Regarding the philosophical content of your books: Are you somehow connected to some of the Sufi works? We are finding so many similarities and references. Could you talk about it a little bit please?

A: Dear Friend,

Your question regarding 'philosophical content' - there is Knowledge and Truth that exists beyond all categories of 'wisdom traditions' and which have been presented within particular traditions at times upon the planet. Yes, we are familiar with those that you term 'Sufi works.' In our transmissions we have used various known sources, including popular culture references. For deeper symbolic purposes, the Sufi material has a strong alignment and resonance. Note, however, that 'Sufi' is itself a label, and which also now carries an external energy imposed upon it. It is not our intention to transmit any pre-determined energy packages. At this time of great change upon the planet, it is significant that categories, labels, and external artifacts not be carried over. For a new rooting of energy to occur, it is necessary that older conditionings and filters be put aside. For this reason, we have maintained a more neutral positioning for these transmissions. For the 'essential' to be transmitted, it only requires the clothing of the moment - and for the moment. When the essential information resides within your body-mind, it is free from all labels or clothing.

Q: KSP,

I am in that group of people that are sometimes called “youngster”. In spite of loving some of them with all my heart, I feel mostly alone between them. Do you see something different from my limited view (that could give me any hope)? What can we do? What can I do?

A: Dear Friend,

We note you place yourself in the ‘youngster’ category, though we recognize this is only due to the category of age. This is an inaccurate way of positioning yourself. Age is a measurement of linear time upon the planet - it does not represent your resonance of ‘spirit’ or inner experience. We may suggest you consider yourself as one aspect of an eternal existence, and that age in this life experience does not reflect your genuine state of being.

Each person acts according to their own understanding, and are in need of their own experiences. You cannot ‘push’ another person when they are not ready to see or understand from your perspective. We recognize this can be frustrating at times. We ask you: for who are you living for - your Self or for the self of others? You must allow. To allow each life experience to arrive at their own understanding. In truth, you exist in a Unity. As physical manifestations, each being requires its own Path. Walk your Path in patience and in the allowance of others.

Do not feel ‘defeated’ or alone. Defeat is an inner submission. Your inner self can never be ‘defeated’ - only your outer expression. Do not attach to this outer manifestation but live within the inner truth. When you resonate with awareness, you share this with others who come into your resonance. It is not always visible - it is energetic. Retain your energetic state and you shall be assisting others too. You are not alone. It may only feel this way. You are All and Everything as well as the singular ‘you.’

Q: KSP,

My intention is to bring together people who have a similar vibration and a common vision. I hope you have no objection if, to spread the messages contained in your books, I may post from them some short excerpts from time to time.

A: Dear Friend,

We see that you have been activated by the material to begin your own networks and groups - this is the correct action. The reading groups and the social media groups are an active way to form 'resonant hubs' for strengthening the vibrational impulse of the Work. Behind the words lies the resonance of presence. This is now what draws people into alignment. After a long walk, it is time to be able to join the dots.

We have no objection to you spreading the Work through these groups. On the contrary, this is part of the activation as included within the books. You may use whatever material from the books that you intuitively feel as appropriate for your messages. We leave this within your hands.

We have appreciation for your actions, and energetically support your endeavors.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

The machine, the narrative, the sleepiness of our WE, is something that I am aware of and have been for some time. The information is out there, but the desire to know more and the understanding that something is not right in the first place are required for that first step of the 1000 mile journey. Many are content in living by their default as opposed to their creation. But I completely understand that, having done the same for many years of this 3D body. I believe what needs to happen is that we just have to RE-MEMBER. We've never not been apart from the membership of WE, we just don't remember. So, in that respect, the machine has done a great job, hasn't it?

A: Dear Friend,

As you correctly recognized, it is about remembrance of what is already present. Humanity is a part of - and not apart from - the Greater Reality. We are all a part of this - we do not need to consider in terms of planets. It is a connected consciousness - a resonance - that aligns perceptual understanding.

The Machine is doing an efficient job - that is it's purpose. The human being's purpose is to know the obstacles and move beyond them - each to each, as it is said. For those whom are not yet ready, we can wish them well - as you say - and not to cause them greater pain. In the end, all comes back to Unity.

In moving ahead, each person becomes a reminder for others. By 'being and becoming' you are also the reminder - the resonance attractor. In this, we each bring ourselves to the story. We welcome your participation.

Q: Kaleb,

What I've read has made me decide, and I feel it as a very important commitment, to continue living my life with a focused intention. Intention to better my creativity, fantasy, my thoughts, my conscious awareness. I'm happy for what I've read and I'm filled with gratitude. Before I thought that we human beings solely had ourselves to blame but I look different upon things now. Manipulating forces have been and are still so very much, intent to hinder our evolution and keep us in this our perception-bubble. What really dawned on me reading your text was how paramount our thinking, choices and responses are for empowering ourselves as individuals and also how we shall not let ourselves be mesmerized by all the strange happenings around us or try to fight it. Be informed but be not on the barricades – is this not so?

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your words and your feedback, and we are grateful that you have resonated with the material. We feel it is a correct decision to choose to live life through focused intention - and a constructive, harmonious intention. Human beings need to increase their awareness, and this can help them to help themselves. Humans are more powerful than they believe themselves to be - this is the perceptual entrapment. The Work is primarily a work upon oneself. This is the empowering - to align with an empowering resonance and not the low/dense resonance of the victimhood world.

We are grateful that you have come into agreement with yourself - and may you continue to go ahead with aligned-resonance upon the evolutionary path. You are not alone. You shall find support through like-resonance. We send our energies.

Q: Hello Kaleb,

Having read your books there is undoubtedly a resonance with the content. However, can you explain more about who are the 'we' who are giving this message? It comes across as though you are 'channelling' the material. From someone/ somewhere else or from an aspect of your own self or.....?

Rightly or wrongly, it feels relevant to know the source of this material. I hope the message is successful in helping more people to awaken. It is so necessary.

A: Dear Friend,

Your communication is appreciated. It is the intention in this Work that there is a resonance with the materials. For those that sense this resonance, there can be benefits. We note this is not for everyone.

The KSP materials are to be transmitted and do not belong to any one person. As we have communicated, each person can form their own access to Source, through Self. The sense of wishing to know first point of transmission is an aspect of secondary self. To remain within the 'wants' of secondary self, this will hamper the access to Self. It shall be harder to awaken if secondary self continues to be followed. We suggest moving from a 'need to know' into an 'allowance of understanding.'

We convey to you our appreciation for your participation in this Work.

Q: Dear KSP,

I've taken up reading Tyranny Against Human Consciousness, and am mostly through the first book, and have purchased all the books in your two series. But I had a question: where does the rabbit hole lead?

To give some background on myself, I started in the Fourth Way in the 90s ... Since then, I've been involved in other projections of Sufism, Fourth Way (in the Bennett tradition) and Buddhism. With that said, so far there is nothing new in your books, being very familiar with the tradition from which I believe it has sprung and understanding how the teaching is updated for time, place & people. I'm very familiar with the problem you describe - though I'll admit I've fallen asleep many times after being awoken - but I'm curious if as the books continue, do they lead to any more specific solutions, practices, or group participation? Where does the rabbit hole lead? I do appreciate what you're doing, reframing the teaching to the current culture. I apologize if the tone of my email comes off negative in any sense; it's not meant to, but maybe more springs from a bit of fatigue.

A: Dear Friend,

We appreciate your communication, and the background information you have shared. We sensed no 'negativity' in your words - rather, an energy of necessity. Firstly, we suggest that you return with your query after reading the 2 series of KSP material. Your question may be better placed after having had the experience of the books.

You are right: there is nothing new in the KSP books. This was not the intention. The Work does not need reinvention but re-transmission. As such, you shall find many familiar references for there are correspondences in the paths you are already familiar with. You are aware of the 'problem' or issue described in the books - yet has this awareness been sufficient to keep you alert? Such periodical transmissions may act as 'nudges' as opposed to solutions. The solutions come from within and need to be triggered rather than given. The manner of reproduction of the material may also form an aspect of the 'nudge' in the way it acts upon the cerebral functioning. Is this a 'solution' in your words? Perhaps not, yet it may serve to shift something in you that leads to your own 'solution.' The question of 'books = solution' is a cause - effect scenario that is not applicable in this domain. The rabbit-hole leads to where you do yourself step. We shall be pleased to hear from you after the reading of the full material if you still have matters to share. You may then have your own notion of how/who/what to connect with - perhaps yourSelf?

We appreciate that you find yourself aligned with the material. This says much about your own resonance of vibration.

Do not align with the fatigue - your energy supply is endless.

Q: Dear Kaleb Seth Perl / KSP,

I have questions on which I have contemplated but have found no satisfactory answer to. The question is how to be most effective ... You mentioned that many working separately creates many rents and thus more 'work intensive' for the Machine to repair than one big rent. In this case there is also the transmutative power of the etheric, of lower and lower mental thought forms.

Taking it into meditation I 'get' that both methods achieve a different outcome but I am not getting clarity on which method is the most effective at this time.

I am not clear on timing. I am aware that there are also times more appropriate because of an 'alignment of cosmic gateways' which would be able to enhance this work. However, I am ignorant on such opportunities ... I am aware that we are encouraged to come to responses ourselves. I have tried, though obviously not enough or because there are factors at play of which I have as yet no knowledge. I ask help in this so that we may be more efficient and impactful in our work. I / we feel the urgency of the time and feel that a breakthrough is possible. We don't underestimate the opposition and are aware that due also to some errors on their side, there are opportunities where groups can up their efficiency.

In service to that Light of which we are a part, and with the intent to further that Plan and Purpose for which the worlds were created.

A: Dear Friend,

We appreciate your communication, and the Work that you are active in. The Work on this planet is collaborative and ongoing.

We give our response to your queries:

"Taking it into meditation I 'get' that both methods achieve a different outcome but I am not getting clarity on which method is the most effective at this time." We say: The method that is most effective is the method that you choose at this time. What you choose then becomes the most effective, as it has the full focused energy. Your manifestation creates the effectiveness - do not get lost in form. As we say, focused intention is most aligned through equilibrium and resonance. If there is a 'doubt' in you over your method, this seed of doubt erodes effectiveness. The 'weak link' is not the method that is chosen, but the doubt you carry over your decision of method. In this, we say: choose the method that is most appropriate to the participants (participants should be aligned); focus and align your intent with this method - it shall then become the most effective through your dedicated alignment. Form is secondary phenomena - focused intent is primary.

There are indeed various aspects of timing. Some are more permanent; others can be localized. If unsure, there is always benefit to be aligned with astrological cycles, such as the solstices. Other timings can be aligned locally. Each region receives cosmic inputs at different times of the solar year. Check the local calendar for religious festivals, for many of these were initially created to align with specific dates for each region (in times when there was still old wisdom in the early churches). If you wish to establish an event in a particular local region, research some history for past events in that area. As we say, the other option is to recognize long-established cycles. Outside of these timings, we repeat what was said above: as long as you choose a date, then full focused alignment with that date will manifest benefit. Do not doubt - you shall create your own alignments and this shall be strengthened by you.

Working together in collaboration is beneficial at this time, where such workings are possible. These collaborations should be natural, with flow, and not forced to fit into a defined shape. Let it come together in a way that serves its own rhythm rather than to have a framework unduly imposed upon it. Allowance and flexibility is stronger than unmoving, static structures.

We recognize and offer appreciation for your efforts at this time.

In Gratitude,

KSP

Q: One question:

In terms of the changes 'predicted' for humanity, knowing they don't happen in a linear fashion, my feeling is that we are rapidly approaching a major shift. But in global terms this could mean 10, 20, 30 or more years. Is that right?

Or can we expect to see fundamental changes in the next few years? It seems that the critical mass has been achieved, but on the other hand your books suggest that the controlling structures are preparing too for a long-term domination.

And finally, could you help clarifying this quote? A few of us couldn't agree as to its meaning:

"Those who agree with you are insane. Those who do not agree with you are in power." Philip K. Dick

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication. As you say, the importance here is of timing. Timing is also a much localized phenomena, and efforts are established to align with these timings. As to the questions:

There are timings also in relation to the 'shifts' - regarding these, they are not 'set in stone' for certain impacts can create changes in reference to the timing and severity of the shifts. We say this: there are long term shifts in play - these are related also to cosmic situations. Expect these to occur over decades upon this planet. There are also shifts expected in correspondence to localized conditions. Some of these are being affected through human involvement. Yes, there are events that are rapidly approaching. We sense that major changes can be expected within the upcoming years. Some of these localized changes are being put into play to mitigate expected cosmic effects. Cosmic effects are necessary for human evolvment. We say, there are planet-related and cosmic-related forthcoming changes that both align with different cycles/timing. A critical mass has been achieved, yet this will not erase all incoming changes; but re-distribute impacts.

The quote that we used: "Those who agree with you are insane. Those who do not agree with you are in power." The first part represents the 'society perspective' - those in agreement will, like you, be categorized as 'insane' by your dominant social conditioning structures, as way to stigmatize you. Those who disagree with you are those who perpetuate the dominant conditioning structures, for they are in power and this keeps them so. Is this now clearer?

In Gratitude,

Q: Dear Kaleb, or KSP,

According to your communication I understand that you mention that there is a 'we' and 'Them.' 'We' being what I understand as the supporting and helping source and origin of your communications. And 'Them' being the head controllers of the controllers team. And in the middle 'Us' human becoming. (Also keeping in mind that all is interconnected.)

Did you, or any one in the 'We' sphere, contact directly the 'Them' and just tell them to stop their effort to keep us asleep, and leave us Alone or even better just stop them. I believe that there is a lot to process and evolve without this supplement weight power over us and this conditioning agenda. I also can understand that to face this situation and untangle this web will provide a particular lesson.

Necessary lesson?

Chosen lesson?

Is evolution of consciousness always operating with a liberation from something?

And how come are 'They' (allowed) to process this position agenda for so long in our history. I think they are not allowed. But also they are not impeached. (Or are they? And we are now experiencing just a stage of the process?)

Is free will a universal right to be processed by anyone? That could imply that the ones in charge of controlling the controllers, are in a sense, (allowed) to process their agenda in some kind of boundaries and as long as accepted by 'us'?

A: Dear Friend,

We have received your communication with appreciation. The KSP material is, as you say, most functional amongst those persons who are 'prepared for this' - for this, the KSP materials have arrived at this time - for these times. As for the 'we' - there is a plurality working in unity - it is the unity of origin, reception, and transmission.

We say that it is more accurate not to think in individual identities - the 'them' are also plural - a grouping of certain orientated forces. The 'us' - as you say - can be regarded as 'in the middle' yet are also connected to the 'we' - yet this understanding is lost amongst many people, due to lower frequencies. The 'we' and 'us' are in unity, yet mostly operating from a place/state of separateness.

In the matter of stopping this intervention of control - it is necessary to understand the universal concept of Free Will. The 'controllers' have the choice to choose what 'they' have chosen to do. They are not 'allowed' as you say, nor are they 'impeached' as you say. They have chosen their path. Yet this chosen path intervenes with yours - and is a form of 'trespass.'

Also, there is some 'inevitability' in this. It was expected to be this way - and in some ways, it is also necessary for this to 'play out.' These are the elements in operation at this density of reality - and these 'elements' are also the means for humanity to gain realization of this and accelerate their progress. The 'polarity' is what assists in giving recognition to the situation - and this then can provide the 'sight' and then the navigation.

It is through the 'owning of self' that these consents are not given to the controllers. Through the owning of your sovereignty, you are also establishing different frequency patterns - resonance - so that you take yourselves away from the playground of the controllers. This is also your free will choice. 'They' cannot stop or disallow your own evolution - only they can dissuade and distract you from it - this is the 'Game', is it not?

The KSP materials are only one part of a larger tapestry of materials provided to assist in the free will choices of individuals. Aware, or 'dynamic', thinking is an aspect of this resonance recalibration. It is good to know you are utilizing this capacity - this can rewire the body-mind so that there is a fuller re-tunement.

These materials are shared with great appreciation for all readers. There is a 'fine line', as they say, between the 'us' and the 'we'...

Q: Dear KSP,

I feel a kind of urgency/need/call, I think, that we do not have too much time, and a need to put together some clear objectives to do this transition/transformation. Do the groupings have an autonomous power to transform our resonance, and that we will suddenly discover that we are transformed - after doing our homework, of course..

In this regard, we ask you to tell us what other steps we might add and apply in the group configuration, in any terms you estimate useful. Should we concentrate on any particular intention, other than what we do already? And would that be an additional positive factor? Is there a booster available?

We also feel that assistance has to be asked for. And also that the cup has to be emptied before to be filled with a new or different, quality. We are aware, to some degree, that assistance is given and provided, and feel gratitude for it. We may not know clearly how to allow all this loving assistance to unfold to its fullest. I hope this is clear enough?

Thank you for the time you take and hoping this is an adequate formulation for this demand.

Second point.

Today, at morning meditation breakfast, it came to me that You, KSP, could probably be a group of 'friends' of like-minded perceptive - The WE

A bit like the Shakespeare group (if it was a group). As you stated in your answer: “As for the ‘we’ - there is a plurality working in unity - it is the unity of origin, reception, and transmission.” Working in unity, to discharge function, transmission? Working in unity, to receive perception? Is this what we are supposed to do? Or is that what we do?

It is while meditating about my first question, this perception came up. As you communicate it, it is all about perception. So, is a grouping of resonant like-minded people, the ‘new organ of perception’ or the means to help develop it? Or are you, KSP in this place/state/position? Are we, as a group, according that we develop our perception to the necessary, heading to that sort of activity?

Is the group to be used to enhance perception? Should we focus our activities on perception? Will it develop naturally when ripe?

A: Dear Friend,

We have welcomed your enquiry, thoughts, questions - and perceptive insights. It is good that there is a group gathering where you communicate and come into like-resonance. As you have perceived, the group contact is indeed of significance. This ‘sense of belonging’ is a familiarity that assists in the energy and resonance – ‘belonging’ is a feeling emitted to inform you that there is like-resonance.

The KSP material is provided as a frequency input - this is so. The material is a tool to inform and to align frequency. The ‘call’ to Own Your Self is directed so that the individual can detach from the external programming and chaotic distractions - to not become entangled in those deliberate lower frequencies. To ‘own your sovereignty’ is to gain inner authority and so to step away from the increasing dissonance.

Once the grouping has a like-resonance, this can be amplified further by your coming together. The frequency of the instrument has been attuned, so to say, and now you can ‘play the instrument’ amongst yourselves. The group can expand upon its resonance - each member verifies the other. It is good that the group confirms one another - you share your thoughts, feelings, intuitions and other members can confirm and provide support. It is significant to develop the ‘We are Not Alone’ feeling-resonance. The intention is to feel the inner faith that your path is authentic, and false paths will not dissuade you. In this, the group functions to anchor in the new resonance. There is much changing in the cosmos too - not only upon this planet. The present dissonance is a sign of this re-alignment. Holding the ‘faith’ allows this resonance to be ‘grounded’ - and this shall bring stability into your own private lives. You should not feel/experience the upheaval that many others shall feel, for they lack this grounding.

Many people will fall into the lower frequencies at this time. Fear is creating this pull. The fear of scarcity shall be great upon this planet - it is manufactured to ‘grab’ as many people as possible into the energies of dissonance. The individual/group resonance forms an alignment of protection, so to speak. In this, there is no fear. You may feel distant - and distinct - from others, like you are a different species. There shall be this separation of peoples as the energetic transition increases.

Perception is a clarity of awareness. If you can perceive the ‘plan’ of the controllers, you can see where they are trying to take the direction. The new resonance will disentangle you from their lower energies.

Appreciation and Gratitude are important here, for they contain the energies of the new resonance. To wake the day and end the day with these energies will be of assistance now.

KSP operates through this ‘plurality working in unity.’ Each has specific capacities that add to the whole. The group can become this organ of perception, as you have perceived yourself.

In these coming times, more and more groupings shall emerge as those of like-resonance find one another and come together to amplify upon this. This shall be as the receiver-transmitter to assist in grounding the new resonance for life on this planet.

It is beneficial that you maintain these weekly gatherings, if possible. You may also, if you feel so, share the contents of this message with other groupings.

We send our resonant energies to you and your grouping - and to all like-resonant groups.

In Gratitude,

KSP

Q: Dear Kaleb,

As I have already told you, we (some of the friends) are doing a meditation every Sunday morning focusing our intent on the highest good of the planetary whole and the grander change, aligning ourselves with all those who have the same intention. Besides that, I am doing exercises connecting myself with the Cosmic Source Intelligence.

As there are many hints in your books regarding assistance from entities being not of this earth, I want to send you a text I found in a book written by Salvador Freixedo about an entity offering Humankind assistance in overcoming the current situation. And I ask you to tell us whether this is a means of getting in contact with such an entity. I am specially referring to the first paragraph in the first chapter of volume 2, where you write:

“The rest of your larger family looks on, observes, and tries time and time again to send you nudges and reminders. They are closer to you than you presently realize. And they shall not leave you isolated. They continue to attempt, by all means possible, to reach out to you so that you can learn to reach back to them. For that is what is required from you – your willing reach out to them.”

Your response is very much appreciated.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication. It is beneficial that there is a group of friends meeting regularly for meditation and focusing intent. In this, there are opportunities for creating group resonance and for creating vibratory alignments that are away from the dissonant frequencies currently upon the planet. These are critical times for humanity, as was indicated in the KSP materials.

We find that of greatest significance now is for people not to become entangled into the manufactured dissonant energies. It is necessary to establish psychological and emotional integrity, balance, and harmony so that lower vibrations are not able to cause corruption and negativity. In the KSP material, it is indeed stated that the human family are not isolated, and that there are assistive factors in operation. Communication is a factor of consciousness, and conscious receptivity.

We comment now on the document 'Manifesto' you have shared. We find some aspects of the 'manifesto' to have elements of correctness. This, however, is often a strategy for presenting information. There are enough 'elements of correctness' that the person 'believes' the whole message to be correct. We recognize that there are indeed darker entities manoeuvring within earthly affairs. We recognize too that certain extended and advanced technologies can bring negative consequences. These aspects we have already presented in our materials.

We also mentioned that humanity must stay clear of the 'victim' mentality, for this brings with it a deliberate lower vibration of weakness. This 'manifesto' is offering a 'great presentation' of an off-planet arrival to 'save' humankind. This is an unworthy narrative. Humanity should not be willing to give away their 'salvation' to any other party. Humanity will become their own saviours. This is your 'free will' - and not the free will to hand over to others.

Events are now happening upon many levels. The physical level - events upon the planet - and including 'landing UFOs' - are not to be confused with events within Source consciousness. We say here: your receptivity to expanded consciousness will be your 'contact.' We suggest that there need not be a focus upon a 'specific entity.' Of importance now is resonance, level of vibration, and frequency of consciousness. Be receptive in your meditations, yet no need for 'knocking on someone's door.' Human consciousness will open access to the necessary contact.

We send our resonant greetings to the group.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

I am witnessing the protests in Iran. The government of the religious is carrying out a real massacre of the unarmed, above all adolescent girls or little more, in any case young people; i.e. those who protest. The question is, why did the prophets leave writings about women so full of misogyny. This hatred also created by them now has such deep roots that generations upon generations suffer from it. Eventually men suffer too because they hate. And hate burns. And why so much hate towards non-gender or fluid or Lgbtq people? Why did most prophets feel male first, or so it appears, if the books were not manipulated? The prophets should have dissolved this patriarchal identity of theirs, but instead they kept it, for the most part; apart from Krishnamurti and Jesus and a few others... Furthermore, today religions fight against those who reject gender identity. I know it's complex, but one last question: who has an interest in all this affirmation of the patriarchal up to the most extreme violence which is in any case a sign of the end? Who also divides us into races and uses every pretext to separate and create negativity and suffering? Are they men and women or something else? From your writings it would seem that they are men and women but also other presences. Which ones exactly?

Thanks if you can answer me.

A warm greeting.

A: Dear Friend,

We received your communication with appreciation, and also we sense your frustration. It is important not to become too entangled in the events of the world, especially now, for this lowers an individual's vibration. For this reason, we have spoken in the KSP materials about aligning with a lighter resonance, away from the dense frequencies of the world. This is part of the ongoing agenda, to get the masses entangled with a heavy vibration with fear, anxiety, frustration, and anger. This is why there are many deliberate attempts at creating separation, polarity, division, and a breakdown in social bonds. The 'hate' between the various social/sexual identity groups is a deliberate part of this agenda of creating social division. These things are not occurring by accident. It is part of the programming. Whatever was put forth originally by the Prophets has long ago been turned into material that suits the ruling agendas. The major social 'religions' have been hijacked by interests that follow power and control - not human liberation. We would say: do not feel frustration, anger, or similar dense emotions. This is what the Machine wants you to feel, for this weakens your inner power and your own capacity for evolution of perception.

Step back from attaching to the events of the world - it is a theatrical display. Much suffering - yes. This is an intention to create 'victim consciousness' (as we explained in Vol.1). This 'victim consciousness' weakens people and takes their sovereignty away from them.

There are 'entities' that gain power from the emotion of negativity. There are human beings - 'men and women' - of the world that are part of the Program to create division and to gain control over the masses. There is also a non-physical power that works through human beings. In the created universe, there is always a choice - to follow the evolutionary path in alignment with Source; or to deny Source and seek power and control within the Game. There are both physical and non-physical entities within the Game, for both the physical and the non-physical are part of the polarity of existence. You are here to make a choice. We suggest you choose wisely which CHOICE to make.

We say: do not give your energy away. Do not focus on the negativity for it will weaken your frequency resonance. Be aware of the negativity, yes - but detach from it. If you walk your Path, you shall share your resonance with others.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Even with the Sufi practice and the various spiritual ways, I understood one thing; for those who like me are below, for those who have spent their lives as exploited, there is no escape. Real help never comes. They tell us to be grateful anyway. But it's all too difficult. I ask you: see how everything is against us what good is it if we can't change anything? And if we also say " I'll change myself" we suffer? They also say that it is our karma but it also seems to me that this is a false narrative. It is always our fault if they hurt us ... so they create guilt. Why do many of the teachers help those who hurt us or excuse them?

Thank you for answering.

A: Dear Friend,

We hear your words and communication. There are no final answers to arrive at the end escape door - there are various pathways in the journey, and each step is a process across stages. This is continual yet it is not linear. Going forward is a movement through experience and understanding. At each stage what is required to be gained is different and distinct from other stages. These are the roles that some people are in the Game to play, and there may be suffering.

You say: 'what good is it if we can't change anything?' It is difficult to know what is 'good' in a world of deceit and illusion - yet within the illusion there are pieces of Truth. The Good is within you. It may feel at times that life is against you - yet the important question is: are you against yourself? The answer can be: You are not against yourself, and never have been. It's okay to be who you are.

It is not your 'fault' - this is the victim narrative that creates victim consciousness. Do not play their game rules. It is not easy to see the 'rights' and 'wrongs' of the Game. No one is perfect in an imperfect world. Those who hurt you are hurting themselves.

Play the Game, whether you feel 'real help' comes or not. There are roles within roles - so much fluidity.

The external is only the periphery - You are the Center.

We welcome your center, and thank you for being here.

In Gratitude,

KSP

Q: Dear friend Kaleb,

As you know, we are in a group discussing KSP's communications and lately, the question was raised of the way to work with books, in general and more precisely the 6 you gave us. Each one has 22 chapters, we do not know why, but not at all anxious about it. It has also an aesthetic quality to it. And rhythmic too. We do also feel the progression from chapter to chapter and from the beginning to the end. We do feel and receive a lot of information, energy, attention, assistance, and generosity in it. And at some point I was wondering if there could be a hidden message concealed in the text ...

So now ... We tend to read books from the beginning to the end, and from left to right. This is the way to read a book I guess. What happens is I or we may get some input, and energy, and it is connected to the quality of the moment of the reading. I or we can also read one part again and again and benefit in a 'subtle or deeper level.' It also feels that the core of the communications is of a clear nature and repeated in many words and forms to convey its depths and energy to all the readers. And to all the parts of the reader. A part of the content might then be forgotten. And next time something else is resonating. All this seems quite natural. We also have the impression at times it was written for 'me' or 'us' or so do I/we resonate with the work. So, we read one chapter, each meeting, each one reads if feeling like it, there is a fluidity in this. And then there is a sharing on the content of the reading, and many different comments and sharings, in relation to other sources, or to links we can make, and or resonances activated by the comments or the communications. And our question here is: what do we do when finished reading 'Own Your Truth'?

ACTION?

Is there any assistance to be asked for at this point? Start again with book one? Or is there another way to work with this kind of material. Other than the digestion and integrating of its parts to act in a useful manner in the world, in the conscious evolution direction. (This is happening to some degree already). I can, testify that, all of us have been deeply and noticeably, boosted, changed, triggered, elevated, by these communications.

Well, so many topics come to the surface. Maybe one last for this time, you put some insistence on the home resonance necessity, at least so do I connect to now, in the own you reality volume. Even if I do have some ideas and feelings, and also perceptions about it, could it be of any use that you explain how to develop it, allow it, fast quick, and for a permanent use.

I feel very committed to the path we are following, and very grateful for the jolt, assistance, to say the least, the KSP communications have given to my system, and to our community.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication, and the sharing of your thinking. This level of detail requires suitable consideration in return. First, we say that this style of 'sharing/and questioning' is a good platform for our communications, and we welcome it. It is not necessary to 'take another form' or to 'orientate in another manner.' All is good in the natural way and flow that resonates with you.

With the group there operates the group resonance as well as the written materials – together they function as one. Any grouping should be harmonious, balanced, and aligned. Meet frequently so that this resonant energy is achieved. You may as yet be unaware of how much is achieved from the 'other side of the veil' by your gatherings, for you create an anchoring for the new resonance to gain a grounding. In this, you are offering a great contribution to the Work of humanity's evolution. Meeting in groups allows for a channel of contact – for an earthing process.

The books – the written materials – have their function and technicality. Yet do not be concerned with the structure/order of chapters. They have their flow and, as you say, their rhythm too. Repetition is sometimes necessary as a technique. It is good that you 'receive a lot of information energy attention assistance and generosity in it.'

There will be found certain resonances of the content with other sources or materials. It is good that the readings, and the sharing of comments in the group, bring up these other links and activates ideas and cognitive patterns. The KSP materials, as in all technical materials, do not exist alone but fit in with a larger pattern. The activation is within each individual. The shifting of perception creates 'action' within your daily lives – within the lived experience. You may be 'thinking' that certain 'exercises' need to be done after the reading; as from 'theory' to 'action' – yet this is a linear mode of thinking. What you call 'action' is the expression and manifestation of your understanding within physical life. You – the individual – is the carrier of action. You have noted this when you write: 'I can, testify that, all of us have been deeply and noticeably, boosted, changed, triggered, elevated, by these communications.'

Response to the materials will differ for each person – there is no 'one' right way. If the group decides to continue reading of the materials, you may wish to 'cut up' the order and rearrange: that is, to read all the chapters in a random, non-linear order. Now that you have read the books from 'beginning to end' or 'left to right' – you may wish to mix this and feel your resonance to the material. All existence is a pattern of communication. It is the human tendency to want to impose strict structure. It is a coping mechanism for having amnesia.

The alignment to a 'home resonance' becomes a greater necessity, for it takes you away from the deepening frequencies of an older cycle. As certain 'energies' are creating a more stressful environment, it is also forming opportunities for work upon oneself. The continued maintenance of aligned resonance is now the main focus for this period.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Do these beings who exploit human vulnerability also have physical bodies or are they non-physical entities? Or do they have the ability to be both? Are they among us as physical beings? And if so, how to recognize them?

Thanks if you can answer. With friendship.

A: Dear Friend,

There are many varied forces that impact upon life and evolutionary processes. There are forces that operate on a cosmic scale, as well as planetary. Upon a planetary scale, such forces operate through living systems although they may not be a part of 'life' as we know it. Your query, we feel, is attempting to personify and specify such forces - so as to be able to 'recognize' them. This can sometimes be detrimental to understanding, as the human mind wishes to view unfamiliar elements in the human personage.

Without such forces, there would not be the possibility for evolution. And this includes the anti-evolutionary forces - without their presence, evolution would become static. These are aspects belonging to a grander scale. When there is an attempt to bring down and categorize these forces - to 'personify' them - there is often a loss of perspective.

To remain within a developmental perspective, recognition of the presence and action of such forces is sufficient, without needing to 'name' them.

We hope this clarifies your query.

Q: Dear Friend(s),

I hope you are doing well. In your second volume you write that the ultimate controller(s) of or force behind the Machine is extraterrestrial.

Can you tell a little more about this force and what is the intention or aim that this force is doing what it is doing on this Planet. Looking at the immensity of the Universe, what is so particularly of interest or importance of our Planet?

A: Dear Friend,

We are grateful for this continued communication.

In response to your query, we can say that the term 'extraterrestrial' does not need to be personalized into 'beings' or 'creatures' for these things are already highly fantasized about within collective humanity. Rather, this is more of a 'force' that exists, or manifests, through the creative cosmos, and can be communicated or transmitted through certain individuals who resonate with these lower or negative frequencies. Such humans who 'attach' energetically to these lower resonant forces then become the actors for a specific state of resonant consciousness. And it is a resonant consciousness that is, in human vocabulary, anti-evolutionary.

What may be termed evolutionary and anti-evolutionary forces are continually in existence throughout universes of physical existence for this creates the dynamic 'state of play,' if you will. For this reason, we stay clear from personalizing these forces. And we can say that they are more dominant at this particular period of human history for there are 'evolutionary thresholds' or transitions set to occur on this planet. At such times, these contesting forces are more 'visible' in their manifestations. At this time, this explanation may suffice.

What is important to consider is one's energetic state and frequency resonance; in that, correct alignments and inner states are cultivated. In this, a person is less open or vulnerable to the intervention of forces of lower density vibration. An individual is to seek, find, and maintain an energetic/inner state of high resonant frequency for this is both protection as well as allows receptivity for aligned energies. To be blunt - to stay away from fear and any lesser mental and emotional states.

We hope this has provided a sufficient response to your enquiring mind.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Many months have passed since our last written communications, nevertheless the feeling inside is that the connection is always there and even stronger. Thank you for the “New Resonance” materials. There is this sensation inside that time is somehow accelerating, insights and inspirations coming after.

What came to our consciousness lately is that our beliefs are almost all conditioned/distorted by the “Machine” that manipulate human beings in having believes that are contradictory and not aligned with Source. This somehow distorted believes provokes “negative” emotions like fear, anger, frustration and so on and keeps human beings in an endless circle to suffering, distress - looking for distractions outside of their inner life and getting even more negative conditioned.

This realisation brought immense gratitude and a kind of freedom, because of realising that it is within my power to always choose the positive. It seems that the perception of this inner connection is getting stronger by the day and we feel ready to serve, to function as a channel for Source.

I ask for your blessings and spiritual support in this endeavour that I am initiating.

A: Dear Friend,

We receive your communication with gratitude. And as you say: although outer, linear time has passed, this does not affect nor dilute the energy of internal connection.

It is good that you are now also aligning yourself with the 'New Resonance' materials. There is a sense of 'intensity' now, like an energy of concentration. Just as external events are accelerating, so too can an individual's receptivity also become 'accelerated' or 'more sensitive.' It is necessary to step back from the energetic imprints of beliefs, as well as the conditioning of opinions, judgements, and crises, that keep people in so many returning and reoccurring loops. And these loops are moving faster too in these times.

Through your 'being' you are able to decide how to choose, and this is your own - and through this, it brings you sovereignty and closer to your own truth. It is necessary in these times to be receptive to the new resonance, and to keep clear the contact with Source, and not allow this contact to be distraught or corrupted.

Much insight is now coming forth. Your art can also be a vessel for these insights to be manifested in this realm, and to assist others in their understanding. Find your 'right relationship' to your art so that resonant energies can be aligned and in balance and harmony.

The times ahead may seem unsteady - yet with focused heart and fixed intentions, your ground shall be steady. Remain in balance and know that you are forever in contact with Source.

In Gratitude & Resonance,

KSP

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Some friends believe in reincarnation, in having had other lives. I believe that something is coming back, but not us. I would say what we call the mind, the thoughts. So that then, due to the negative ones, also linked to our actions, someone will suffer, because thoughts form a mass and go around and are in fact actions. Can you help me clarify if I'm wrong? Or if there actually is reincarnation?

Thank you.

A: Dear Friend,

We appreciate your communication and question. Your query is on the nature of 'reincarnation.' You state: 'I believe that something is coming back, but not us.' Your response 'not us' depends upon WHO you think you are, does it not? You are not your name. This is the personality you have acquired during this current incarnation.

We can say this: there is only death of the physical body, not the soul. Souls can experience many different physical incarnations. In this manner, then yes, there can be the possibility for 'having had other lives.' The Soul that experiences these different incarnations is more than only the 'you' now - each incarnation is but a small part of the greater soul. And your personality is only the flavour of this particular incarnation, but is not the essence.

The negative thoughts accumulated in an incarnation do not return for there is, let us say, a 'purifying' process after physical death to dispose of toxic accumulations. Negative energies do not necessarily 'go around' in continuing incarnations. Do not be concerned on the negative thoughts/energies, for they are dealt with after physical incarnation. If this subject is too complex for you, then we suggest that you do not pursue it further at this time. It is important, especially in these current times, that each person maintains coherence and balance within their physical lives.

Your experiences accumulated in physical incarnation will assist and prepare you for continuation after physical death. There is much awaiting for you.

In Gratitude,

KSP

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Thank you for the responses you have provided over time. They have been really useful. There is talk of a 'quickenning' due to our planet reaching a point in the Milky Way that brings with it a vibrational shift in resonance and energetics - and of consequence the break-up of patterns and behaviours not in alignment with this new incoming dimensional reality.

A few days ago I was talking to a friend of how communities we were part of are now disintegrating, eg Findhorn, Auroville, et al. A short while after this conversation I 'saw' like a dimensional overlay where all the dreams and visions we all worked on existed and were very much 'alive' and real - that essence we all worked for exists, is vibrantly alive and magnetically attractive (as having a strong quality to attract) - that only the 3D reality is crumbling. At this stage I don't really know how else to describe this. It was as if I were underwater and could see through the water a reality that over the millennia was built up by the highest ideals and insights people lived for, there was a peopled reality with buildings and that it would be enough for me to just get out of the water and step on land and be part of this. As if since Atlantean times all that was of a higher vibrational reality has already created this new reality, this new 'world' - that what is required is to resonate to this and 'step into this' That the crumbling world and this new reality are coexisting 'next to each other.' While before I was mentally aware (as a concept) of a 'dimensional overlay' it has suddenly become 'real' in that there is an energetic vibrational aliveness that 'only' requires us to 'step into' - obviously easier imagined than done... so how does this come about?

Is the above 'description' part of the shift you and others are talking about or am I getting into a fantasy rabbit hole? So how to phrase my questions?

1. Does this 'new' reality already exist and has each insight, choice and action with a higher resonance by numerous 'humans' over the millennia contributed to creating this?
2. That we now have the evolutionary opportunity to resonate to these diverse dimensional 'layers of reality' and that we have this opportunity to 'step into, step over' and 'become' part of it. It is a step of conscious becoming and accepting that which was always there but we were diverted from realising this?
3. If yes, how do we step 'over' or 'into' this?
4. And that there is not only one 'layer' but diverse 'layers' and we all will be 'stepping into' the energetic alignment with which we resonate?
5. Can a consciously aligned group serving together and serving as a conduit and as anchorage of needed forces precipitated by Hierarchical Sources be effective in clearing the dross enveloping the planet?
6. Can you say something about 2025 which it is considered a centennial Gathering of Elders.
7. Due to the very specific situation on this Planet as well as our Solar System, have there been 'minor' Gatherings of the Solar Council? Is this information relevant to us becoming aware to new vibrational forces/energies? You mentioned that while we don't really know anything about Shamballa but that our intent operates like a lick for a key, us there more we need to become aware of do that we may act as earthing anchors?
8. As the opposing forces are at work is an internet outage a possibility? I am asking so as to create alternative ways for group work to proceed beyond digital communication methods.
9. Any more a group consciousness?

I am aware of the length (again) of this. And I wish to thank you and your tireless 'scrive' with deep gratitude.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication and the sharing of your thoughts. We note that there is a correspondence here with the KSP materials. We would say that it is correct to say that all those previous efforts - the 'dreams and visions' of past actions - acted like a resonant attractor and all aligned energies are not wasted but become parts of the 'dimensional overlay' as you call it. This overlay has already been actualized - it now needs to become manifest through 'coming in' to your dimensional awareness. Part of this process is the dissolution of previous vibrational patterns that no longer serve the incoming resonant template. There is a 'new resonance' that now needs to be 'stepped into', as you relay.

There is now a new series of KSP materials that deal with many of the questions you have raised. These materials – ‘A New Resonance’ – have been provided to select groups. We feel we may now share some of these materials with you. Most of your questions may find resonance with information in the forthcoming communications. Yet we wish to address some specific ones:

5. Can a consciously aligned group serving together and serving as a conduit and as anchorage of needed forces precipitated by Hierarchical Sources be effective in clearing the dross enveloping the planet?

Yes. This has always been the case. Aligned resonant energies through conscious participation can act as a medium for the dismantling of dross and toxic energy forms upon the planet. The group may not be aware of the technicalities of how this may function. Yet the group's alignment with conscious intent puts them at the service of higher forces to work through their physical group design as receivers/transmitters of higher energy. Coming together with aligned intent and resonant frequency will enable this to be established.

8. As the opposing forces are at work is an internet outage a possibility? I am asking so as to create alternative ways for group work to proceed beyond digital communication methods.

Physical disruptions remain a possibility. The opposing forces are finding it increasingly difficult for their predicted plans to materialize according to their timeline. This is making them frustrated and there may still be rash actions. Yet we emphasize that there should be no fear in this. The opposing forces are finding that their actions are becoming less effective due to the energetic shifts taking place. There is still the possibility of an electronic outage, yet this is more likely to be more sporadic and/or national (if it materializes). We would say: it is good to make alternative ways for group work to continue beyond digital communications. It is always farsighted to consider alternate plans. And physical contact is a preference over digital when possible. Keep all communications in continuation and remain a conduit for higher energies. There is no fear.

In Gratitude,

KSP

Q: KSP,

I realize that things are as I perceive them, yet I wish to perceive things as they are in their own right (if that makes sense). Expressed another way, I wish to see things without my own beliefs and ideas getting in the way. With that foundation laid, let me share my observations. No matter what you label it (Sufism, the Tradition, the Messages of KSP, Truth Consciousness) I recognize that there is a source and reality behind the label. The label, like a bowl, holds a vibration that source poured into the label. Your messages are this a container for the vibration. It is this vibration that one must align with. From this one comes to see the vibration as a path or river that leads back to source - and it is this source that I seek. Source is lover. In terrestrial terms, source is like a beautiful princess that you have fallen in love with and wish to marry and live happily ever after (as the story goes). For me, happily ever after is the true beginning of the story and not the end.

A: Dear Friend,

The KSP materials are offered in the spirit that you have recognized. What is offered is an opportunity. These opportunities for Contact require that first some residues or conditioning are thrown aside. The KSP materials can assist in this. People need not seek for deeper understanding when they have not yet acquainted themselves with the workings of the simple.

All labels are garments that clothe the transmission. At some times, labels serve a function and must be kept in place. Yet they serve to be moved beyond. Prisons are creations. And brick by brick they need to be dismantled. The Workers who have been dismantling the walls for longer can assist those who come newly to the wall. In this participation, there is a greater correspondence with Source resonance.

The wish to meet with the 'beautiful princess' is a consequence of the inner urge to strengthen the resonant contact with Source. We understand this to be a positive sign, if recognized for what it is. These correspondences, whether physical meetings or meetings with materials, retain and maintain frequency synchronization. These sustain attention. It is when attention lapses then one can become caught once again in the denser vibrations. We retain our attention by recognizing the focus of our inner longing.

At the same time, do not place the 'beautiful princess' outside of yourself, for then you shall be upon a treadmill. What you seek is the inner marriage, and you express this in outer terms. Longing is useful; long-distance relationships are not so.

We remain in harmonic alignment.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

With thanks again for your gratefully received answers. More questions:

1 - In one of the messages you mentioned that our food has been manipulated. (our seeds as well) For those who cannot grow their own food from ancient seeds: how can the negative effects on our bodies be 'neutralised' ?

2 - Resonances and telepathy are linked? Can you please say something to this?

3 - Message Nineteen mentions alchemical processes: is a nuclear event now a real possibility? In the past we were given to understand that extra- planetary Elders would not allow this.

4 - Many invoke The Lords of Liberation, the Rider of the Secret Place, the Avatar of Synthesis, the Prince of Peace... The dimensions/ domains of these exalted 'Elders' 'reside in' is so 'far' from the earthly one. are our invocations 'heard' or is it our intent that opens us humane to their existence ?

5 - Related to the above: Before your 'departure' (or to be shared afterwards') : could you say something about yourself / yourselves? ... and the aid many of you give to our planet at this time. Is there a linkage to The Lords of Liberation?

In these times of turbulence on so many levels your guidance is precious and is encouraging us to choose and stay focussed on the higher vibrations. We/I shall greatly miss your encouragement and the pointing out...

In deepest gratitude.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome once again your correspondence and queries. It is good that you have clarified the reception of the New Resonance materials, and that these have been shared privately with your small group. Through this grouping, a shared resonance can be established, which also assists in the anchoring of incoming energies into the material realm.

We note your questions. It is not always available for people to grow their own food. Yet intake of food of lower vibration (and/or corrupted food chain) does not have to necessitate negative consequences. For if the body is operating at a higher frequency, this will negate the effects of lower vibration food. Yet we suggest eating healthily and not a diet of processed food. In this, it is important to retain a healthy body-mind, to recalibrate through meditative practices, and to remain free from the frequencies of fear and anxiety. Your own resonance can 'neutralize' corrupt incoming frequencies or even recalibrate them.

Telepathy is a natural by-product or outcome from the functioning of higher faculties and mind-body resonance. It can come into being once other faculties are operative. It is a natural condition/state that is available to the human being. We suggest it is not 'aimed for' through desire but allowed to come into being as a natural consequence of other alignments.

The reference to alchemical processes was not a reference to nuclear war. Whilst there are still some forces remaining, pushing in this direction, we do not consider it materializing according to their plans, or in the manner of their aim. This does not rule out still disruptive events, yet not on the scale as wished for. Nuclear release is an event that many other groups are working against. It is not acceptable.

Human invocations, intentions, focused thoughts and directed wishes - these are all received. Reception is not a matter of physical or dimensional 'distance' - it is related to the energy of intent and transmission. It is not necessary to get hooked onto the name(s), but the energy within the personal intention.

There is the presence of many here at this time, whether active physically or otherwise. Departure may be from public visibility or physical contact - not from presence or assistance. There is, has been, and shall forever continue to be, assistance given to this planet and the evolutionary unfolding in accordance to a cosmic correspondence and harmony.

We encourage you to choose joy, appreciation, and gratitude over the corruptive energies of fear. Stay focused on the 'higher vibrations' - the calibration with the new resonance - despite the turbulence of these times. The turbulence felt depends on the altitude of the plane. It is not the same experience for all.

You shall always have access to the energies of encouragement if your body-mind focuses on this. And we shall continue to receive and respond, whether physically present or otherwise. Stay in focus. Remain in gratitude. Share your energies with others.

Q: Dear friend,

We thank you here for this continued sharing of assistance you provide us. We resonate with these communications. And we receive with gratitude the energy/frequencies that are embedded within them.

It looks (to me) like the idea of the blueprint might be something that has already in the past being implemented on evolutionary request or for evolution needs. The reflexion I process here is who, (if someone) has decided or designed the blueprint or the rules by which the blueprint has the quality and the function of a blueprint. This notion of a blueprint is also used to define a kind of pattern that can originate in the past conditioning against humanity.

One question here is also there are chances that blueprints have been implemented in the past we could also understand that they are beneficial blueprints and also limiting blueprints as we talk about this new frequency or, more clearly, this new resonance to the new frequency, we ask, has there been in the past some similar time events and, if so, 'Who' designed the blueprint? It seems also that the blueprint has to be in accordance with the needs and the requirements of evolution. Anyway, if there has been in the past implementation of blueprint is this working according to cosmic cycles and/or is it implemented by the source of the loving assistance we are currently receiving?

So, we feel it is not random, it is planned, it is supported and assisted, and we are so grateful of all the combined effort that has been made towards us. And that all this effort would not be put in action if there was not a clear and definite use and importance.

I can again witness and testify here that these communications have been well received by our grouping and that they have triggered deep and genuine evolutionary changes in all of us.

In all ways in gratitude and resonance.

A: Dear Friend,

We appreciate your communication and sharing of thoughts. Your manner of reception of the new resonance materials indicates alignment with the frequencies transmitted therein. There is a rhythm of transmission/reception, as well as a process in the unfolding of terms and 'precisions'. In this, there may seem to be repetition, yet this is a rhythm of gradual unfolding.

We have made use of the term 'blueprint', as this is a term/vocabulary appropriate to the concept we wish to share. Although the word is not wholly accurate, for it serves as a representation and not the original event. It is not necessary to consider 'who' originated or activated the 'blueprint,' only that it exists in correspondence to cosmic laws and processes. The 'implementation' of frequency-resonant patterns is in correlation to events/processes upon a vaster scale. Such events and periods as occur on this planet are not in isolation but in correspondence to 'timings' and correct alignments to larger non-terrestrial patterns. Such patterns/processes do not occur on one planet only, but are reflected in ongoing cosmic evolutionary processes.

An energetic pattern may also become limiting once its utility has been reached. A baby carriage may be useful for a baby; yet once a child can walk it must leave the limitations of the carriage. Frequency-resonant patterns are not rigid - they are aligned with the needs of the period of their function. A new resonance is a new frequency patterning that is adjusted to the next stage requirements for evolutionary processes.

As you have said, deeper content is provided for when the child has learned to read, or has accomplished one stage of its reading. Such stages are part of cosmic laws that are in-built and emergent within all creation. Evolutionary processes are guided, as much as is possible for 'guidance' to allow for freedom of evolution. There is, has been, and shall forever continue to be, assistance given to the evolutionary unfolding in accordance to a cosmic correspondence and harmony. It is an honor and privilege to be part of creative life and its evolution. Every actor is a participant, in its own way.

Gratitude allows for greater receptivity, and clears much blockage in the way of the human being. Let there be space for life to flow. There is a natural trajectory. In your gratitude shall be your resonance. Above all else, there is joy and harmony.

We are grateful for your continuance and commitment to these materials and for your group resonance and participation. We welcome your own support and ongoing resonant alignment.

In Gratitude & Resonance,

KSP

Q: Dear KSP,

Thank you for your illuminating and uplifting messages to humanity and for all your Love and Support for our Planet and us.

My question is about the battle between the White Brotherhood and the Dark Brothers, could you comment on how are we standing currently, and what more we could do to help the White Brotherhood in closing the door where the Evil Dwells?

Also, are we already in this New Earth in the higher dimension, like what they say 4 D, not sure if that would be the right name, as many spiritual groups say?

Will extraterrestrial intervention help us solve the difficult problem of global warming?

Thank you so much for everything.

A: Dear Friend,

We appreciate your communication and welcome your question.

In respect of your query as to how the differing 'Forces' are 'currently standing', this relates to your final query regarding 'are we already in this New Earth'. We do not find the 4D, 5D vocabulary or categorizations useful as humans often get muddled in utilizing these terms and in their own thinking patterns regarding 'are we in this or that D' (smile). What we say is this: What is to materialize upon this planet, in your reality, has already occurred/manifested in a higher Reality. It has already unfolded, and so it is a 'reality'. It only yet has to manifest in your world. In this, the 'Light' forces, as you term them, have already settled the future. It is the 'Dark' forces that are 'making trouble' in the old reality whilst there is still time. It is like this: The wave has already left and is rolling towards the shore. Its arrival is an inevitability. Yet, before it arrives, there is still time for the shore-dwellers to make a mess of the shore by building sand walls and sandcastles. Yet this will not hold back the wave, only disrupt the shore in the meantime.

What can you do? This is the core question. We say: stay focused, stay in balance - mentally, emotionally, psychologically, physically. Be receptive to the correct resonances. Remain in alignment with those in resonance. Stay Grounded: Be open to grounding the energies. Be in Joy, Appreciation, Gratitude, Resonance, and - most importantly - stay out of the frequencies of fear, anxiety, and anger.

The issue of 'global warming' is not a 'problem' for you in the way you have been conditioned to think of it. It has been hijacked for the purposes of establishing specific protocols of global governance. Climate changes on this planet have been occurring for millions of years. Human pollution, although not good, cannot override the continuous ebbs and flows of planetary changes. Extraterrestrial intervention will not occur in the manner you may think. It has already occurred. The 'intervention narratives' you are familiar with are sometimes used as part of the programming on this planet. Be careful of 'savior narratives.' You are here to be as your own saviors.

Stay aligned in Resonance.

Q: Dear KSP,

My understanding is that we live perceptually within a created reality (a matrix) designed by external forces and reinforced internally by created systems within the matrix itself designed to reinforce its operation. This could be called 'The Machine' and it can be adjusted to achieve certain ends. My assumption is that the Machine and who ever constructed it designed the matrix. The Machine is a matrix creator? However, if this is true what is the nature of this Machine and can it also be hacked by both forces external and internal to achieve certain ends.

If this is correct understanding on my part, then the following question arises: Who or what and to what ends is this Machine operated by? I say operated as it's the closest word I can come up with. Perhaps 'guided by' may be closer as this is a less physical process. Simply put, if this is a machine formed matrix who or what controls the Machine? There is much speculation here.

As I understand it, you are referring to forces and cosmic events that exist outside of this machine matrix. These outer forces seem to permeate the matrix construct the implication being that it can't be sealed off. We can therefore expect a wave that will permeate the entire structure we have come to perceive as reality. Would it affect us as an energetic flooding?

We must aim to recognize the forces that constitute what is termed reality. The first step would of course be to recognize the nature of what we believe to be reality. But a recognition of these forces would be perhaps the work of an intuitive faculty which at this point is poorly developed and therefore not sufficiently operational. There is certainly a quality of feeling associated with the structures that run our social systems. And they all have a similar feeling quality to them like entering a dicey neighborhood. Something is wrong but if you stay long enough you get use to navigating it. There is an entirely different sensation when participating in developmental exercises. Let's say a weight is lifted for starters. But the cosmos has many forces made of frequencies and vibrations which I am assuming we are not equipped as receivers to recognize and although they may affect us as causal elements, permeate but then go unrecognized on our current band width?

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your enquiry and engagement with the KSP materials. Some degree of clarification may be useful at this stage, as well as continued engagement with further materials of the New Resonance.

The reality you perceive can be said to be a construct that is 'reinforced' by events and impulses both within and without. The Machine, at the cognitive level of which it has been spoken of, is an internal system that is not a 'matrix creator' as you put it. The Machine can be interfered with 'by both forces external and internal to achieve certain ends'. The Machine is an operative system within the reality construct, or 'matrix' as you have termed it here. It can then be utilized or influenced to operate in various means, according to the nature of that which has gained operative function over it.

The matrix construct cannot be wholly sealed off. In this, it is permeated by a spectrum of influences, or forces, and energetic variability is thus an ongoing potential. Evolutionary forces include those forces of inertia, for evolution is not a linear energy. In this, forces of inertia must be utilized. The intuitive and imaginative faculties have become sedated and require further developmental influences. For this reason, navigating the reality construct - your 'dicey neighborhood' - is difficult for many. Intuitive and perceptive faculties are thus required, for which many materials and tools have been provided for humanity over the ages. Within your perceptual recognition of reality, the 'time frame' is perceived as if uni-dimensionally and appears flat. Dimensional 'attunement' is a useful term to use for shaping imaginative awareness and understanding - yet we would say also to use it loosely for all frames of reference are placeholders.

Current energies that are manifesting are not the creators of 'a time period of condensed intensity' but that it has been the necessary vibrational intensity which have resulted in manifested energies currently in movement right now.

Q: Hello!

On alignment: I was thinking the other day that I do not have people in my close environment that resonate with anything spiritual, nor have I been friends with someone interested in the such. I had friends with whom I can no longer relate to due to our different approaches in life, but I realised I do not need to have friends the way I used to think what friendship is, and that I would at some point be able to relate with people without labelling them as close friends, friends but just interactions. But being, still, centred to myself I went through the questioning, why do I not have people of the same spiritual interests around me? And when reading your text I realised my vibration is not high enough to attract such people. I am not aligned. I am partly awakened. The new resonance you discuss in your paper is all about higher vibration that requires that I be calm and aligned and really not worry about things like that, and I do not anymore, I just thought I could share my thoughts. I would be very interested in reading your work. Thank you for your time in advance.

A: Dear Friend,

We have received your communication with appreciation. We welcome your thoughts and feedback.

We would say here that resonance and resonance-alignment does not necessarily relate to what you term as 'spirituality'. It relates to an inner vibratory signature. In this, it is a frequency of essence, of 'being.' We note that there are those people who like to call or think of themselves as 'spiritual' or engage with material and/or external aspects commonly associated with the idea of the 'spiritual' and yet they remain out of synch with their inner being.

In the last few years especially, there has been a frequency recalibration, or reorganisation, among many people, as 'different approaches' in life arose due to the nature of recent external circumstances upon the world. This was expected. Social relations - or friendships held by social bonds - were disrupted as people made choices from an 'inner place.' Do not be concerned that other people around you do not share the same 'spiritual interests.' These are roads that people travel upon, and there are many parallel roads that may be going in a similar direction. Some roads will also never meet.

It is not necessary to attract 'spiritual people.' It is a time for realigning with people who can be of benefit to one another. These may be 'simple people' yet of good essence. Do not go running after your own tail. Do not be worried over finding those of 'like spiritual' aspects. Time now to focus on that which is of your essence, your essential self, and the rest will fall into alignment. Be authentic. Be true to yourself. Do not follow where you do not feel yourself wishing to go.

It is true - stay calm in yourself and aligned with your authenticity. This shall be your new resonance.

Q: Hey KSP,

I am writing to get a new sense of direction. We've been riding the community for almost 3 years now, learning more about our subtle bodies, increasing connection with source, learning to feel (as crazy as it sounds), improving understanding of the situation without getting entangled with the theater. Do you feel there is an instruction at this moment that has more to do with these actual times?

I know it's not about doing, but about being. Still when walking a path together, instructions must be given and people still need some sort of leadership.

I would appreciate it if you send me some words on what would be useful now.

Thank you

A: Dear Friend,

We have received your communication with appreciation. It seems to us that your direction is fine. It may not be a 'new' direction that you seek, but a sustained sense of direction, for you and your group have been travelling well. As you note, it is important not to become 'entangled with the theater.' These are times of separating frequencies, where there is 'push and pull' to get people into frequency patterns or loops.

These are not linear times we are in. It is not a time to seek linear solutions, but for essential ones. The new resonance aligns with authenticity. This requires a break from all past programming and conditioning. It requires a release, and a recalibration - a release from a prior mode of perception. For this reason, the KSP materials were provided. At this moment, a new set of materials are being offered: The New Resonance materials. The first of these was given to you in our prior communication.

Community building and community consciousness are increasing in their necessity. Shared group projects, shared creative endeavors - these can all be of assistance. Perhaps your community can continue to envision creative projects to align with.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

Hope you are doing well. At this moment I would like to shortly present a situation to you and ask a question, even if finally you end up saying I have to decide myself.

In your messages you mention that the “machine” is tricky and has the capacity to present messages/messengers that seem to be true, but in fact are only attracting people again to the system. Through a very dear, very young friend (27 years old) I got to know a so called spiritual master (also very young) that he is following. It seems to me that his “spiritual master” in fact is working for the machine. Something inside me wants to “protect” my friend. But, of course, I can also be mistaken.

Would you have any recommendation for me in dealing with this situation at the best of my capacity, learning with it instead of letting myself to feel “worried” and disempowered? I thank you deeply for your recommendations and advice.

With deep thankfulness.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication and to be in contact with you again.

Your question addresses an increasingly common issue. The Machine has many 'false exits' through spiritual imposters. These 'false messengers' keep people within the system by implanting ideas to them to believe they are exiting or detaching from the system. It can be a subtle illusion.

As you state, your own perception tells you that this "spiritual master" is false - but that you could also be mistaken. Each person has their own state of perception. Your young friend must therefore perceive differently to you?

A person cannot 'impose' themselves upon another, or trespass/invade their space of individual choice. We can say this: it is fair to inform your friend of your concerns - to tell them of your own perceptions and intuition, but that you leave them to their own decisions. In this way, you have acted as a friend, to share your concerns. Then, the next steps are in the hands of your friend. We repeat: a friend can advise or offer suggestions, but not to impose upon the other. In this, you will have acted in your responsibility. Your friend will then be responsible for their own choice and actions.

Each person's journey is unique to them, and offers learning experiences. We cannot know what experience each person requires. Therefore, we can only support them in the decisions they make for their own unique journey.

We wish you well upon your own unique journey also. Do not allow yourself to be worried for that which, ultimately, is a journey of experience for us all.

In Gratitude & Resonance,

Q: Dear KSP,

To begin to more fully integrate aspects of the new reality you are describing and not engage superficially as reading for personal enjoyment and simply an "Aw yes, so glad I'm agreeing with this," for me takes time and there are aspects where my mind seems to fall off the cliff. Eventually this structure will integrate and it won't happen with straight mentation, at least not for me. I hope you can endure the nature of my questions and I ask knowing that at this point direct answers may either be beyond my comprehension or in any useful sense relevant, but any response will filter in at some level which may emerge as a type of comprehension in the future. Therefore, two questions:

1. My understanding is that there are forces that direct aspects of the cosmos. The Indians refer to devas as primary forces and maybe Christians see them as angels, but do these "forces" like those permeating earth's matrix have conscious intent? And is communication possible or would you say that resonance is the means of communication available to us at this point in our development. Does this interchange allow for greater development of the human conscious, each individual development increasing the human consciousness field? I am assuming that these forces interpenetrate different fields and effect outcomes.

2. I am assuming that a different type of communication and influence on these forces can be made and is being made by advanced levels of consciousness at this time and as it has always been. Most of us however will enjoy a very different type of communication depending on the necessity of the cosmic necessity for this region at this time?

With kindest regards.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome again your continued communication. It is important not to rush into false truths or superficialities by saying 'Ah yes, I know this.' Some things will appear familiar on the surface, or familiar to the outward personality, without yet being grasped at the essence level by the deeper Self. In this, there is necessity for taking time. And for this same reason, certain ideas are repeated throughout the KSP materials. Or the same ideas are represented in various ways, so that there is adequate 'time and space' for the meanings to penetrate beyond the outer guard. Integration of understanding can happen, and often does happen, at times when the mind is not focused on the subject but is directed elsewhere. When this 'outer guard' is not 'on guard', an aspect of understanding may suddenly drop - it becomes integrated into your self. The materials in the books transmit specific aspects, yet the moment of their penetration is varied, and is different for each person. As we say, such 'aha' moments often occur when the person is not actively engaged in the 'meaning seeking'.

You are correct in your understanding - there are forces that are involved or concerned with aspects of the cosmos. Such forces have 'conscious intent' according to their function to do so. And those with a function or role have a conscious intent aligned with this role. Communication is not only possible, it is ongoing continuously. The differentiation here is between one-way and two-way communication. There is much one-way communication that is ongoing. These are often not recognized by the human recipient, but can be placed as 'inspirations', 'nudges', 'coincidences', and similar effects. In this, such communication can be taken to be through acts of one-sided guidance. Two-way communication can, and does, occur on multiple levels. Such as through aligned resonance, prayer (focused internal vigilance), invocations, and conscious intentions to connect. People tend to categorize 'communication' as an audible or visible exchange. This is only on the most basic level. People are communicating with such 'cosmic forces' even when they do not suspect they are doing so.

There are gradations of communication. As we say, much communication is received-transmitted at the unconscious state at the human level. The question here is the degree of focused intent. To your enquiry, there are 'advanced communications' ongoing at this time, as there always have been, between particular entities on this planet and those not of.

An individual's degree of communication is also related to their own capacity for receptivity and comprehension, and utility of the communication. There is a 'cosmic necessity' in all matters, for manifestations and effects are all related within the cosmos.

Q: KSP:

I received this question through our FaceBook page 'Revolution in Human Becoming': "who is Kaleb Seth Perl? There is no information about him. Is he sufi shaykh?"

I could reply who you are to me. Or I could quote from Tyranny where you deal with this sort of question. Nor do I wish to violate your sovereignty, so I think it best to let you speak your truth. So I share this with you and will let you respond.

A: Dear Friend,

In this instance, we shall respond to this query. As you are aware, these 'questions' arise, although we do not consider them as genuine questions but as 'queries of curiosity.' As you say, an answer can be provided at this time that will serve as an answer for all such future same queries, and which can indeed be posted on the website for all to understand.

Q: Who is Kaleb Seth Perl?

A: The search for an outward identity, whether individual or collective, is in our work a distraction of the mind. It is an expression of habit formed from conditioning that seeks to find validation, security, and/or satiate curiosity through external data. However, it is necessary for the individual to establish their own certainty through inward recognition and discernment. For this, the answer is best expressed from the Master Jalāl al-Dīn Rūmī: 'Do not look at my outward shape, But take what is in my hand.'

Q: Dear Friend,

Working with the material and specifically with this input 'Perceive the outer world through the lens of non-linearity', can you please give me some inputs how to practice non-linear thinking or non-linear perception. One answer I have about this non-linear approach is humour, but I am sure there are more ways.

Many thanks and kind regards.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your communication. It is correct to recognize, especially at this time, the concept of non-linear thinking. This perspective shall gain in importance and relevance in the years ahead. Binary, or polarity, thinking is not adjusted to the further development of the human condition. Much of the external world is now being projected through binary positions. In this, it is strengthening polarity thinking in those people pulled into these external energies. And this is often a deliberate strategy. Binary thinking is unable to perceive the various layerings within the paradox - and human life exists within a paradox. Non-linear thinking is more adaptable for life in the paradox for it is less rigid and more open to perceiving the connection of unusual flows and events.

As you correctly state, humor is an effective method for activating non-linearity, for it assists in establishing a full brain interaction. For this reason, some traditions make use of riddles, jokes, and zen-like puzzles. In this, puzzles also provide a way of breaking out from binary thinking. It could be useful to engage in appropriate games: to engage in puzzles, problem-solving activities, and similar activities and pursuits that engage the mind in thinking outside of conditioned patterns. Puzzles can be of the visual kind, or mental.

In this, we stress the importance of staying away from external programming - as in news, propaganda, and such - for these are now working to strengthen polarity patterning. We may also suggest in reading certain books that work upon the active imagination of the reader, such as 'magical realism' (Jorge Luis Borges); or certain science-fiction works. The focus here is upon those works or activities that stimulate active-creative imagination. It is active imagination (in contrast to passive imagination, as in watching Hollywood movies) that can assist in developing non-linear thinking.

In these times, we promote the necessity to step back from the controlling events of the world that are to increase in their programming effect. In this, environments and settings away from dense, urbanized centers is also encouraged. Non-linear thinking can also be activated by continued immersion or exposure to natural energies and natural, organic environments.

We agree that your question is important and relevant for these times, and send our greetings.

Q: Dear Kaleb,

In your books and communications you said that chaos would come and therefore things should change. However, I have the impression that we are falling into an era very similar to totalitarianism with the billionaires of Silicon Valley and Trump on one side and on the other the oligarchies of Putin, China and religious fundamentalisms. Some friends seem to lean towards Trump and Musk and Putin, but I do not agree. Yet you were clear in saying that it is all a theater staged to divide us. Personally, I see that these regimes cause fear and pain to many people, immigrants, blacks, women and transgender people and it is absurd so much hatred towards those who have always had few rights and more on paper than in reality. Is patriarchy really so weak that it needs to make the lives of the poorest, of girls and women and minorities unbearable?

Can I ask you what you think?

With friendship.

A: Dear Friend,

We welcome your enquiry on this topical subject. As we have noted, these are periods where chaos and change are both in momentum. And yet, there is a great show on display in order to create greater distractions and dissonant attractors that take people away from their home resonance. Politics is a game that is played, and one cannot place any trust in these deceptions. Divisions and 'taking sides' are artificial creations in order to further divide people. Fear, pain, and hatred are mechanisms that are exploited to create more lower density vibrations and to exploit human emotions. We would suggest that people should not allow themselves to be played in this way. Do not engage in their Game unless you are very confident of your ability to play this Game by their rules. Otherwise, step away and align with the finer resonance of human integrity and nobility.

Do not feel alone amongst the shadows, for there is a light of the sacred human that is eternal. Do not allow your inner gaze to be diverted from this.

Q: Dear Friend,

I came across a sentence that says, "KSP represents the Work."

At the same time, in your last book: "KSP are not teachers. We have no authority to teach; our role is to transmit and share."

Could you help me understand what it means to "represent the Work"?

With gratitude.

A: Dear Friend,

We now respond to your question. As we have previously shared, KSP are not teachers. The phrase you make mention to - KSP represents the Work. - refers to the 'Work' that we have chosen to align with and accept. It is the path of service to humanity. The 'Work' has, at all times, referred to this path of service to humanity. How this service is undertaken can take many forms, and other streams/agencies/groups undertake this service in their own path. We do not represent any specific path or any organisation. We only represent this role of service.

We hope this is clear now.
